

Posting Final Grades – Gradebook Users

In Gradebook:

1. In the Selection field, select the class you want to work with.

2. In the Select a task: field, select Q4-Quarter Grade.

4. Click the Save button.

3. Right-click in the empty columns under % and Grd. Select Post Grades from the menu that appears. Do not post to other task.

NOTE: If you do not see % and Grd as shown above, you need to set the District High School Grading Scale. Please see separate document. This needs to happen for every class, every term. Also, make sure % and Grd match!

5. In the Select a task: field, select Q4-Semester Grade.

6. You should now see Q3 and Q4 Quarter grades as well as the semester average. Make sure the averages look right.

8. Click the Save button.

7. Right-click in the empty columns under % and Grd. Select Post Grades from the menu that appears. Do not post to other task.

12. Click the Save button.

11. Right-click in the empty columns under % and Grd. Select Post Grades from the menu that appears. Do not post to other task.

13. Go back to step 1 and repeat for your other classes.

Important notes:

- Make sure the % and Grd match everywhere. If you made any manual changes, be sure to change both. (% is used by the system for calculations and Grd is what gets printed on report cards.)
- Make sure the all of the columns with yellow headings (those to the immediate right of the student names) are full. If not, you must set the District High School Grading Scale.
- The order of posting (Q4-Quarter, Q-4 Semester, Q-4 Final) does matter.
- Although the system does the calculation, please visually check the semester and final averages. (Did you notice all of the averages shown at the top of this page are wrong? This is an indication that I did not post quarter or semester grades for this course before I went to post final grades.)
- If you post grades for a class that has seniors, you may notice you are posting underclassmen grades at the same time. Do not worry. When you go back and post later after underclassmen exams, it will overwrite the old score and post the updated score.
